New Website and Email Address

We now have a new website and email address. If you have a question, concern, topics of interest—or just need to get in touch about anything related to the REACH network or the annual Research Analytics Summit, please email: reachnetwork@uky.edu.

Visit our new website often: <http://researchanalyticshub.org/>

New Collaboration Space

To better engage with our community, provide access to resources, and have a space for online collaboration, we have decided to build a MS TEAMS site. This site will be housed at the University of Kentucky, but anyone can join. Note that the TEAMS site is not meant to replace the current listserv. The listserv will remain our key communication channel—the TEAMS site provides an avenue for greater communication, live chat, collaboration, file sharing, etc. for those who are interested. You can join the REACH TEAMS community by filling out this form for access.

We will process requests once per week and you will receive an automated email to accept the invitation. We've posted some troubleshooting issues we've found in this document. If you have questions, email reachnetwork@uky.edu.

Casual Friday Series

The REACH Casual Friday Series is a monthly virtual engagement opportunity for network members/participants to spend time learning about topics of interest and networking with colleagues. The first 30-minutes will be a presentation on a particular topic with the remaining time focused on networking, engagement activities, and break-out rooms.

Submit a topic, we want your ideas: Click Here!
